A Washington and Lee Hymn

In the shadows of white columns,
We stop to hear the chimes.
Worn steps on which we linger
Slowly yield to time.

As the bells ring out the hour,
And echo through the halls,
We sense in this brief moment
The strength within these walls.

But when we doubt our future's course,
Our honor sets us free.
A timeless trust in our Alma Mater,
Washington and Lee.

SPIRITS

Webster's dictionary defines spirit as: enthusiastic loyalty, an alcoholic solution of volatile substance, and a supernatural being or essence. Washington and Lee has always possessed several varieties of spirits. W&L students make sure that the spirits flow at almost all events from afternoon football tailgating to formal cocktail parties.

But the real spirit of Washington and Lee can be observed at Fancy Dress in the Warner Center, sporting events at Wilson Field and casual games on the colonade.

TRADITIONS

Traditions at W&L are numerous. A prominent tradition is the tradition of giving. The campus can still feel the effects of benefactors George Washington and Cyrus McCormick.

W&L students are superstitious as they observe a long honored tradition which is said to place bad luck on students who walk under the center arches of Graham-Lees Dormitory. The worn walkways under the outer arches are proof of this time honored tradition.

SPIRITED TRADITIONS

Deeply rooted in traditions, Washington and Lee is one of the oldest universities in the country. It is often said that W&L is "in it's own little world."

And perhaps it is.

Laura A. Pincott

Arne S. Kuhlmann

Where else can a student receive a top education while still enjoying the charms that are inherent to this small school and to the city of Lexington? What other school can boast of traditions such as Washington's endowment and the legacy of General Robert E. Lee's integrity?

The speaking tradition, the honor system, and the work hard-play hard philosophy at W&L encourage faculty and students, alike, to get their noses out of the books and to enjoy the many intangible aspects of the Washington and Lee experience.

Arne S. Kuhlmann

While W&L must naturally undergo changes to keep up with the times, there is a traditional atmosphere of spirit and pride that does not seem to change from one year to the next. Not long after orientation week, freshmen can be found boasting of their school with a pride that only intensifies as they continue to grow within the W&L community.

The students and faculty seem to love W&L in a way that cannot be easily explained. All one must do is step foot on the campus to understand the uniqueness of this university. Attend a class, have lunch with a professor, go to a fraternity party, attend a lacrosse game. The friendly atmosphere will undoubtedly be felt. As you flip through the pages of this Calyx, remember the mark this university leaves with you. Remember the friendships you have formed, the professors who have taken a sincere interest in your life, the good times, and perhaps most of all, the unexplainable integrity and pride you have gained in both yourself and this unique institution.

First Week

The class of 1998 joined the W&L community on Saturday, September 3. The freshmen quad was packed with helpful upperclassmen, freshmen, and their families. W&L's most recent additions matriculated before saying farewell to their families. Freshmen attended Mandatory Fun 101 later in the evening, which was intended to introduce them to their new classmates and welcome them to their new home. Upperclassmen took advantage of the week without classes, attending many parties and seeing old friends. The first week flew by with many activities planned for students to attend including the activities fair, hall meetings, and lectures in Lee Chapel. The bonfire held on Friday night boosted spirits for the first home football game and brought the first week to a close.

Men's Rush

in the spirit of tear night.

Rush began even before students arrived in Lexington as freshmen were mailed letters from the brothers of each fraternity. All fraternities put their best foot forward as the freshmen became immersed in the new social scene. Informal rush was in effect as soon as the new students stepped foot on campus. Formal rush was quick to follow as the freshmen attended fourteen open houses. The men of the class of 1998 were then treated to tropical parties, barbeques, volleyball games, and skeet shooting in the country. After all the fun, the prospective pledges were invited back to closed rush dates. Tough decisions were made on both sides, and the men were pleased when bids finally came through. A total of 216 men tore, marking the beginning of countless new friendships between future brothers.

Homecoming arrived early this year, with the festivities beginning on September 29th. Washington and Lee alumni flocked to Lexington to pre-party with their respective fraternities before attending the Drivin' n' Cryin' concert on Friday night. The Homecoming parade, which made its way through downtown Lexington on Saturday morning, provided much entertainment for both onlookers and participants. Kappa Alpha Theta and Lambda Chi Alpha tied for first place in the fierce competition between the Greek organizations. Theta's float featured a giant Raid can to kill the yellow jackets, while Lambda Chi presented a tropical theme, boiling the offensive mascot in a large kettle. Past and present students enjoyed the tailgates before the game, but the highlight, as always, was the half-time presentation of the new homecoming queen and the appearance of the parachuters. Carol Pierce was announced queen of the event with Megan McCloskey and Julia Podlas as runners-up. Saturday evening brought an end to Homecoming Weekend with fraternity band parties that lasted well into the night.

Lexington was flooded with families and friends on October 14th, the start of Washington and Lee's 38th annual Parents' Weekend. The beautiful weather made for an idyllic picnic on the president's lawn, followed by the traditional football game, complete with tailgating, and more parties at night which students and their families enjoyed together. On Saturday evening students could be seen eating with their parents in Lexington's many restaurants before attending the choral concert in Lee Chapel or the performance at Lenfest Center. Sunday morning left students refreshed, restocked, and looking forward to being reunited with their families at Thanksgiving.

Halloween

Halloween is always a fun time of year at Washington and Lee and this year was no exception. W&L began its celebration early with fraternity mixers and band parties on Saturday night. Students' costumes ranged from VMI cadets to Sumo wrestlers with everything in between. "Lost in the Supermarket" reunited for the evening at Sigma Nu, and five fraternities hosted a large band party at Zollman's. On Monday, W&L lent a hand to the community. Kappa Alpha Theta and Pi Kappa Phi guided Lexington's young trick-or-treaters through the streets to provide a safe environment. Lambda Chi Alpha provided the youngsters with the safe option of staying off the streets entirely by entering their gruesome haunted house. The Gaines community treated faculty and staff's children to candy as they came through the halls early Monday evening.

Christmas

Students at W&L were barely able to hit the books before it was time to attend another fun-filled date function, Christmas Weekend. The event commenced on December 2nd, just a week before exams. The weekend began with cocktail parties and the SAB-sponsored "Hootie and the Blowfish" concert at the Pavillion on Saturday night. The fraternities had decorated their houses in a truly creative manner. Band parties, complete with elves and Christmas poetry, made the night one that would be remembered. Willard Scott made an appearance in the city's Christmas parade. Lexington itself was dressed for the season in wreaths and bright lights. The town was transformed into a truly "Merry Lexington."

Women's Rush

Women's rush commenced on Friday, January 6, with over 150 freshmen and sophomore women attending the Open Houses hosted by W&L's four sororities. Skit Night followed on January 8, with entertainment provided for the rushees by the sisters-turned-country singers, detectives, flappers, and hippies. By Sisterhood night, the mood turned more serious as sorority members offered reflections of their many experiences as sisters. The parties concluded with Preference Night on Thursday, January 12, when both the sorority members and the rushees made the difficult decision of choosing a pledge class. Bid Day proved a success as 115 happy women donned the letters and pledge pins of their new sororities and celebrated throughout the weekend with sisterhood events and fraternity mixers.

As students tried to cope with the adjusted class schedule on January 19th, Robert E. Lee's birthday, W&L celebrated ODK Founders' Day. Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership honor society founded at Washington and Lee in 1914, initiated 31 new members at its Founders' Day convocation. The Founders' Day convocation commenced with the procession of professors. Keynote speaker, William E. Smith '63, CEO of Royal Cup, Inc., spoke about his involvement in Alabama public education reform. Smith credited his development of leadership skills to W&L and its great professors. The convocation culminated with the tapping ceremony, ODK's traditional initiation of new members.

Fundraisers

Washington and Lee students did more than just party this winter. They raised money for worthy causes such as the Students Against Rockbridge Area Hunger and MDA. The annual Lip Sync contest to benefit S.A.R.A.H. took place on January 20th. It included acts which showcased the musical talents and dancing abilities of many students. Kappa Kappa Gamma won both first and second place with Sigma Phi Epsilon taking third prize. MDA benefited from two separate events, Lex Vegas Casino Night and Superdance. Many students partook in black-jack dealt by the skilled Sigma Chi pledges and enjoyed the beverage and popcorn service supplied by the snazzily dressed Pi Beta Phi pledges. The main event, however, was the Superdance, drawing students from far away to see the Samples and the reunited BHP. All this fun went to a good cause, the 1995 Superdance raised over $10,000 for MDA.

Fancy Dress Ball

Can-can dancers, flowers, the Eiffel Tower, and Monet's garden welcomed the many guests of Washington and Lee's 88th Annual Fancy Dress Ball, "Une Soiree Parisienne." The weekend commenced Wednesday evening, March 1st, with a number of fraternity parties. Thursday followed with sorority dinners for members and their dates, all of whom later trekked out to the Pavilion to listen to the sounds of George Clinton and P-Funk. On Friday evening, students donned their tuxedos and stylish gowns--eager to partake in the magical evening of fun and frolic French-style. For yet another year, Bo Thorpe and his orchestra entertained students and faculty alike with a wide range of melodies, from the Big Band era to the "Electric Slide."

Dina Erdman, Nat Messmore, Lee Daugherty, Debbie Munson and Shelley Milligan look "tres-chic" before their departure to the ball.

Dedicated to the festivities of the weekend, students could be spotted Saturday afternoon at the fraternity houses enjoying crawfish, barbeque, beer, and bands. After taking some time out in the early evening for a quick nap, most of the campus was ready to go later in the evening to send the weekend out with a bang. Band parties provided one last chance for fun before the harsh realization of the heavy workload looming ahead on Sunday morning. In spite of the physically debilitating effects of the non-stop weekend, most students would agree that the weekend was a great success, leaving behind a legacy of happy memories.

The Pit After Dark

The soulful sounds of Tom Acousti provide a relaxing and entertaining addition to the W&L social scene.

The Pit has opened its doors for evening events this year, thanks to the insight of Michelle Richardson, W&L's very own "Dean of Fun." In addition to the already established Theta Gong Show, many activities have been added to the GHQ calendar to entertain Lexington's finest in new ways. The crowds flock to the "Acoustic Coffeehouse" to see W&L students show off their talents. Tommy Esposito and Brian Boland have entertained the crowd with their skilled duets on several occasions. Many students were amused by the comedian who was imported for an evening. Students also tried their skills at solving a murder mystery, one night in February. Also, many students have had a new chance to show off their artistic talents in a series of poetry and prose readings, which have provided a new outlet for the many Washington and Lee authors.

-Deborah Zollmann

Out and About

Surviving a week of grueling classes gives many students more than enough reason to reward themselves by "going out." For most this means going to Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday night parties at fraternities or friends' houses. The evenings are spent hanging out with friends, listening to music, and drinking lots of beer. The over-21 crowd finds delight in the atmospheres provided by The Palms and Spanky's. Parties and functions at the neighboring women's colleges also draw some W&L students. Many students travel to see their favorite bands, such as a local favorite, the Dave Matthews Band. With Washington, D.C. just a few hours away, many students are lured into the city to visit the national museums, sightsee, or just spend the day shopping.

-Deborah Zollmann

Carrie Borish, Susie Prevost, Jack Bauer, Scott Crawford, and Julie Mayo use the weekend to unwind and have a good time.

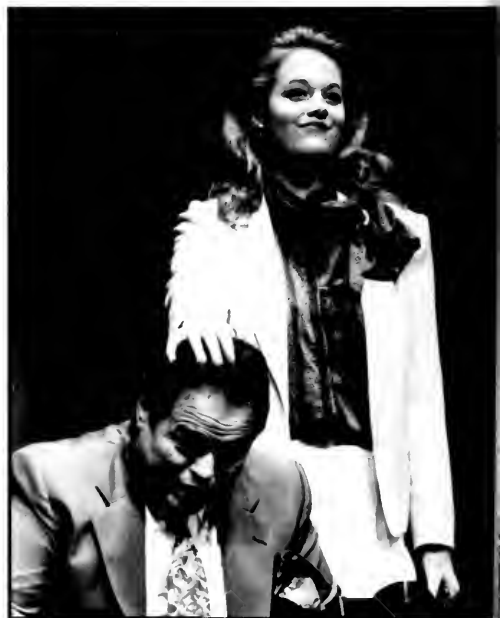

In February, "She Stoops to Conquer" showcased the talent of freshman Aaron Brotherton (Hastings), sophomore Denis Riva (Tony Lumpkin), and senior Jeff Tibbals (Marlow) as part of the Lenfest Theater Series.

In March, the Shenandoah Shakespeare Express displayed their sassy and upbeat rendition of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

Sexy Kate Sullivan (Jeanne Dillon '96) teaches slimy Garfinkle (Professor Robert de Maria) a lesson in "Other People's Money," which played at the Lenfest Center over Halloween weekend.

Lenfest Center

The Lenfest Center for the Performing Arts had another exciting season of events. Musical performances from W&L groups and outside talents filled this year's calendar. The Chick Corea Quartet, Uakti, and the Guarneri String Quartet were among the outside guests attracted by the Lenfest Center this year. The University-Rockbridge Symphony Orchestra and the University Wind Ensemble also shone on stage. W&L's ever-popular a capella groups General Admission, Jubilee, and Southern Comfort successfully entertained the crowds. Many actors and actresses found their way to the stage, performing Macheth, Other People's Money, and She Stoops to Conquer, as well as acting in the Festival of One Acts. Student recitals gave W&L students an opportunity to show off their hard work while allowing their peers to be in the audience.

-Deborah Zollmann

The Guarneri String Quartet began the 1994-95 Lenfest Concert Guild Series with an elegant chamber ensemble in September.

Philadelphia Dance Company combined elegant grace with extraordinary strength during their performance in April.

Entertainment

Washington and Lee students have proven that they can take advantage of the entertainment that is available to the university. This fall the SAB began its year with the "Drivin' and Cryin'" Homecoming concert. This was followed by the very successful Christmas Weekend Concert with "Hootie and the Blowfish." Superdance was an enormous success due to the appearance of "The Samples," who included shots of Lexington in the backdrop of their concert. This year's Fancy Dress was kicked off by "George Clinton and P-Funk." The Mock Convention Kickoff featured a performance by "Jacko Pierce." All of these, however, are hardly the beginning of the bands that pass through Lexington. Fraternity parties brought in bands such as "Uncle Mingo", BHP, and a reunited "Lost in the Supermarket," to name a few. The Pit After Dark and the Lenfest Center, as well as events sponsored by Michelle Richardson, such as Pudding Wrestling, provided even more entertainment opportunities.

-Deborah Zollmann

Seniors Melissa Curtis and John Cherry escape from Lexington to the ocean.

Vacations

Where Washington and Lee students spend their vacations varies. All students agree, however, that wherever they go, breaks are a welcome change from the hard work. Students got a chance to go exploring a little earlier this year with the addition of a Fall Break to the school calendar. Popular destinations for all vacations this year were often warm, with many students heading to Florida, Mexico, and to the Caribbean for a cruise. Some students stuck closer to home and visited friends and relatives. Washington, D.C., attracted its share of tourists. Fraternities planned trips to the Bahamas and Cancun. Some of the more hardy sorts chose to spend their holidays skiing. And as always, W&L had some world travellers wandering around Europe and Asia. Wherever they went, students had fun and returned to school ready and rested for the work that awaited them.

Spring Term

After a grueling winter term, students return to the Hill ready to send the academic year out with a bang. Academics, however, do not seem to be the main focus of this six week Spring Term. Taking only one or two classes, most students find ample time for sunning at Goshen, heading to Charlottesville for the Foxfield races, attending nightly parties, and even trekking to Zollmans for yet another event. Spring Term provides a care-free atmosphere on the Hill with dogs roaming freely around the multitudes of students who are sunning on the front lawn. All in all, Spring Term is a nice bridge between the hectic winter and the lazy days of summer.

Foxfield Races

Charlottesville, Va.

And they're off! Although few people can admit under the honor code that they actually saw the races, droves of W&L students trekked to Charlottesville on Saturday April 29th for the spring Foxfield steeplechase. Clad in sundresses and hats, duckheads and ties, students enjoyed fried chicken and cocktails at the fraternity sponsored tailgating parties. Many students also took the opportunity to visit with friends from neighboring colleges. Foxfield is yet another strong, spirited Washington and Lee tradition focusing on friends and fun.

-Gamble Parks

For those students who never saw the horses, the Calyx has included a picture of a race.

Campus Dogs

W&L has a long tradition of dogs frolicking on the campus, loyally waiting for their masters (students and professors alike) to return from class. The students often wish that their hours on the hill were as carefree as their canine counterparts'. Frisbees, sun-bathing, and occasional mooching at the Co-op are essential parts of any respectable colonnade canine's day. Although, being W&L dogs, they do not neglect the political scene. A few pooches were seen wearing sandwich signs to help their masters campaign for student government. However, the dogs seem to innately understand another ancient W&L tradition, happily saying hello to all members of the W&L community, canine and human.

Alumni Weekend

Pete Muhlenberg ('50) signs the new Science Center beam.

W&L alumni were welcomed once again by beautiful spring weather. Alumni flocked into Lexington for a weekend escape from reality. Band parties, the alumni dance, afternoon cocktail parties, lunch on the front lawn, and a cookout at Zollmanns made the alumni feel as though they had never left this little world that has been so well preserved over the years. Undergrads enjoyed catching up with old friends who had graduated in recent years and also meeting the older alumni who were more than happy to talk about "the way it used to be." The number of alumni that attended this weekend is the greatest proof of the pride and love that all students, past and present, hold for Washington and Lee.

-Susie Stowell

Alumni Weekend provided a last opportunity for returning graduates to mingle with President and Mrs. Wilson before the end of President Wilson's reign at the "helm" of the University.

Hundreds of alums and their families attend the Alumni Picnic on the Front Lawn before the Southern Comfort-Jubilee Concert on Friday evening.

Speakers

A wide spectrum of speakers enlightened the W&L students this year. In September, the Glasgow Endowment brought author Wendell Berry to the campus. Author Suzi Landolphi spoke on safe sex. In February, Contact brought UPI White House correspondent Helen Thomas. Sara Fritz, the National Correspondent for the LA Times, was the Woodrow Wilson Visiting Scholar. Lani Guinier, author and law professor, spoke in recognition of Black History month. In April, Jack Kemp gave the Spring Mock-Convention Kickoff speech. Journalist and W&L alumnus Roger Mudd taught a spring term seminar and lectured over Alumni Weekend. The individual departments brought various authorities to speak in their fields. Lecture opportunities abounded on the campus in the 1994-95 school year.

-John Jordan

University of Pennsylvania law professor and author of America's New Policy on Civil Rights-Don't Ask, Don't Tell, Don't Pursue, Lani Guinier spoke in February in honor of Black History Month.

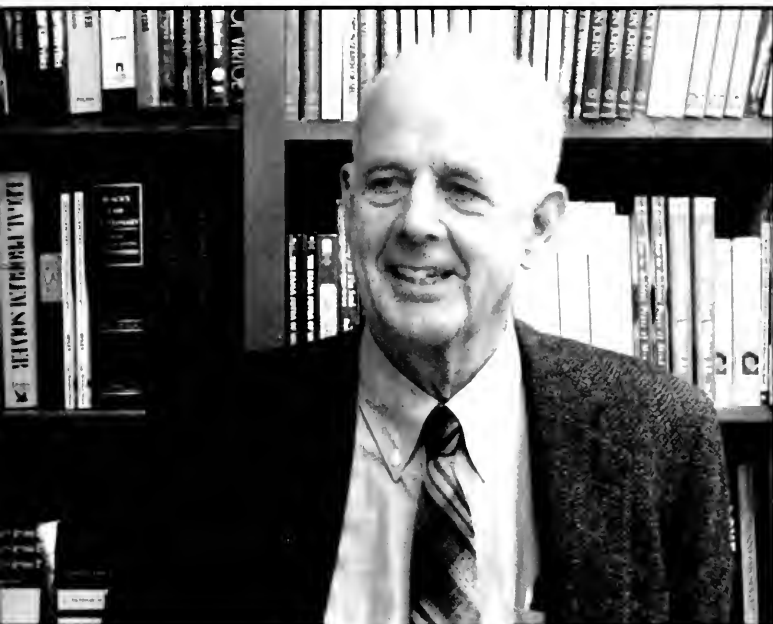

Former Republican Presidential candidate Jack Kemp delivered the 1996 Republican Mock Convention Spring Kick Off address.

Journalist and W&L Alumnus Roger Mudd spoke in May for Alumni weekend.

Wendell Berry, author of Watch with Me, lectured in September.

National correspondent for the LA Times Sara Fritz spoke in February.

Senior Party

awson Brice and Allyson Gardner sit on the rocks at Zollmanns.

U&L students ended the school year with the traditional senior party, flocking to Zollmann's Pavilion to wish the seniors farewell. Only hours after final exams ended, underclassmen and seniors spent Monday night partying together one last time. The celebration began with a late afternoon cook-out for the seniors. Underclassmen began to arrive as the opening band, Agents of Good Roots took the stage. Evening turned to night and "Everything," the main act, performed well into the morning hours. Students remained way past 2 am, all the while hugging their friends a final time, blinking back a tear, and of course enjoying the endless spirits flowing from the kegs.

Baccalaureate

The sun came out in full force for the baccalaureate service on Wednesday, May 31st. The students listened to the speech by Dean Elrod, president-elect of the university. Dean Elrod encouraged the W&L seniors to get involved in their communities after they graduated. After the Call to Worship, members of the University choruses entertained the audience with traditional renditions of Shenandoah and the Washington and Lee Hymn. Members of the Brass Quintet provided music throughout the service, as faculty, students, and relatives looked forward to the commencement ceremony.

Although rain was in the forecast, the drizzle held off as if to allow the ceremony to proceed as planned. The Class of 1995 took the traditional route across the campus, from the assembly point at Stemmon's Plaza, through Washington Hall, along the beloved Colonnade, and finally under the trees of the front lawn. President Wilson announced Will Shepherd as valendictorian. EC Secretary Alex Cross spoke on the importance of having a strategy in life and gave an hilarious anecdote from his own life about installing insulation. Of equal note was President Wilson's mood as he gave his last speech as president of W&L. Wilson saluted the class of 1995 and the diversity of its achievements, adding a jibe that future administrations had better concentrate on recruiting classes more like the graduating one. The President's humorous mood then came through as he succumbed to giving his trademark capitol campaign plug for one final time. Near the end of the awarding of the diplomas, hundreds of graduates popped their campaign corks. After the adjournment, the graduates sought their families and friends out of the crowds.

IN THE REAL WORLD...

It was called the trial of the century, the trial of O.J. Simpson. He was accused of brutally murdering his ex-wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend Ron Goldman. There was so much interest in the case that even the preliminary hearing was televised nationally. Simpson hired an expensive "dream team" of lawyers, lead by Robert Shapiro. On the prosecution side, prosecutor Marcia Clark represented the district attorney's office. Judge Lance Ito presided over the televised trial. The trial highlights included lawyers arguing over DNA testing and several juror dismissals.

Tropical Storm Alberto hit the South in 1994, and the Georgia floods made history. The storm unloaded more than 20 inches of rain and caused flooding that killed 31 people. Forty-nine counties were declared federal disaster areas.

During the November 1994 elections, the Republicans won control of both houses of Congress for the first time in several decades. Newt Gingrich, a conservative congressman from Georgia, was elected the Speaker of the House of Representatives. As the leader of the new Republican-controlled Congress, Gingrich set forth his "Contract with America" that included welfare reform, middle-class tax cuts, and legal reform.

The baseball season ended early in 1994. The players went out on strike in August and a month later the owners voted to cancel the remainder of the regular season, including the World Series. It was the eighth strike in 23 seasons. The strike centered on the owners' demand to create a salary cap. The players wouldn't accept the cap and went on strike. Since its inception in 1903, it was the first time since 1904 that the World Series was not played. The strike continued until April 1995, as the owners threatened to use replacement players in the upcoming season.

President of the University, 1982-1995

John D. Wilson

John D. Wilson came to Lexington in 1982 as the 21st President of Washington and Lee University, Robert E. Lee's eighth successor. During his tenure at the university, he oversaw W&L's co-education, the completion of the Capital Campaign, the addition of the Lewis F. Powell archives to the Law School, and the construction of Gaines Hall, the Lenfest Center for the Performing Arts, the Watson Pavilion, and the new science center. Under President Wilson, Washington and Lee University improved its national academic reputation, without sacrificing its southern charm. The Washington and Lee community bids farewell to President Wilson and wishes him and his wife, Anne, happiness and success in their future endeavors.

UNIVERSITY

Lexington, Virginia 24450

Office of the President

TO:           Members of the Washington and Lee Student Body

FROM:       John D. Wilson

I am very pleased to have been invited to write these few words of leave-taking in the pages of the 1995 Calyx, the thirteenth issue since my arrival in Lexington. The years have gone by very quickly for when you enjoy the company and the ambience of a special place there is hardly cause to think about time.

But now I can think about time. Looking back upon the years shared with student friends and colleagues brings many pleasures (and a few conspicuous winces). I learned one important lesson during that time and that has to do with the great healing power of courtesy. No matter how many or how egregious my errors, I discovered that I could not exhaust the goodwill and the patience of faculty or staff or students. I thank you most sincerely for that and for the unlimited capacity of this institution to polish the best sides of our human nature.

Tomorrow and the day after will be marked by the excitement of a new, fresh vision for Washington and Lee . . . a vision informed by a deep knowledge of and respect for the best of our traditions and also by a sense of what the future will require. I wish my successor a full measure of the happiness Mrs. Wilson and I have enjoyed at Washington and Lee. It is a superior place and will reward those who teach and learn here well beyond anything I could hope to describe.

My gratitude goes out to you for the unfailing pleasure of your company.

Most sincerely,

Football

The 1994 Football season began in a dissappointing fashion for Washington and Lee with threestraight losses, but the Generals rebounded to win the final four games of the season and finish with a 5-4 record.

The Generals featured a strong defense that led the ODAC in scoring defense (13.4), a figure that ranked 22nd nationally in division III. W&L also led the ODAC in pass defense for the second consecutive year.

Five defensive players earned All-ODAC accolades, led by senior cornerback Jon Wagner and junior defensive tackle Robert Hull. Wagner led the team with four interceptions and Hull led the team with 106 tackles and seven Quarterback sacks.

Senior noseguard Jason Chartrand, junior free safety Stuart Hogue, and senior linebacker Stephen Cox earned all-ODAC honors.

Senior William Propst led the Generals offensively by leading the league in recieving with 56 catches for 641 yards and five touchdowns. Other leaders were junior offensive tackle Robert Turner and freshman running back Seth McKinley, who ran for 667 yards on the season.

The Generals cornerback #29 Jon Wagner dazzles the stands with an spectacular interception.

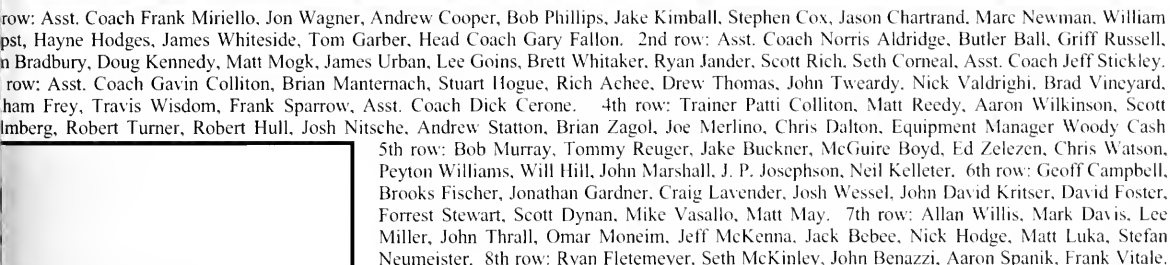

#21 Hayne Hodges turns upfield.

Volleyball

The Washington and Lee Volleyball team had an outstanding year as the Generals won a school record 19 matches and finished in a tie for second in the ODAC with a 7-2 mark. Among other highlights for the Generals were their first appearance in the championship round of the Washington and Lee Invitational and their first ODAC tournament semi-finals appearance since 1990.

The leader of the team was senior Jennifer "Goose" Garrigus, who completed her fourth year as a starter for the Generals. She ranked second on the team with 181 digs and had a career-high .136 hitting percentage.

W&L's other co-captain, junior setter Cheryl Taurassi earned second team all-league honors and also became the school's career assist leader.

The most potent of Washington and Lee's young guns was freshman Hilary Martin. She led the team in kills with 250, digs with 205, and shattered the single season mark for hitting percentage (.310) to earn first team all-ODAC honors.

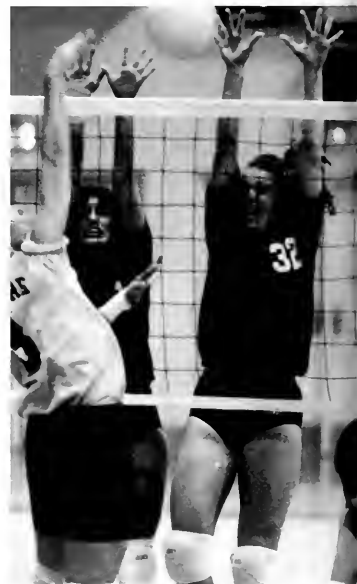

W&L also got major contributions from freshmen Holly Thomsen, Rebecca Russell, and Allison Beard. W&L veterans also contributed greatly. Junior Allison Hull had a team high 26 aces, junior Chrissie Hart had 80 kills, and sophomore Elizabeth Bahn was second on the team with 149 kills and earned All-ODAC honors.

Men's Soccer

It took a little while for the team to gel, but after a little tinkering with the lineup by Coach Rolf Pinian, the Generals came together in the second half of the season to become a team that nobody wanted to play against. The key moves came in both parts of the field as the team ended the year 7-7-2, an upward trend from last year's 5-13 finish.

Senior tri-captain Alan Christensen was shifted from midfield to the sweeper position where he earned all-conference honors for the second straight year. Christensen's move shored up the defense as senior Paul Wright and freshman Colin Connolly took over at the marking back positions. Junior Chad Dobbens forsook his position as forward to solidify the defense at stopper even though he had scored three goals.

On the offensive end, the continued excellence of junior tri-captain Jeb Wofford, who had team highs in goals with seven and was second in assists with four, was instrumental in late season victories. In the midfield, performances by Kevin Hocking, Mike Matechek and Bill Sigler strengthened the team, as well as efforts from freshmen Gordon Meeker and Michael Germain.

Women's Soccer

The women's soccer team found the right mix of experienced veterans and talented youth this year as they tallied a 10-5 mark, breaking numerous team and individual records.

The experience part of the combination was provided by a corps of juniors and seniors that led by example. Senior co-captains Dasha Hermosillo and Anne Spruill along with classmates Kait Barton, Marina Jackson and Jen Lynch were all steadying influences. Barton, third on the team in scoring with 21 points, was voted the team's offensive MVP. Barton also placed her name in the W&L record book tied for the most career assists. Jackson, from her mark-ing back position did not allow any player she covered to score. She was named the team's defensive MVP and earned first-team All-ODAC and All-State honors.

Youth was served by a group of freshmen and sophomores that will provide the heart and soul of this team for years. Freshman Erica Reineke was the top gun with 18 goals and 11 assists while sophomore Michelle Bauman was second on the team with 28 points. Reineke broke or tied seven records.

Women's Cross Country

Washington and Lee's women's cross country team has been making steady strides of improvement every season over the past four years and this year was no exception as W&L had its best season in the history of the program. The women's team rolled to its third straight state and ODAC championships and matched its best finish ever at the NCAA Southeast regional, taking second place.

Coach Jim Phemister had talent throughout the lineup and a core group of veteran leaders to ensure the team's success.

Senior co-captains Sue Deutsch and Kim Herring wrapped up impressive careers. Herring finished her career as the school's first four time All-ODAC honoree and Deutsch was also a two-time All-

ODAC performer.

Emerging from the shadow of standout Josephine Schaeffer was junior Amy Mears, who placed 18th at the NCAA championships to earn All-America honors. This season, she was also an all-state, all-conference, and all-region honoree.

The Generals got a boost from sophomore Nat Messmore, who finished fourth at the ODAC Championships.

The final piece to the puzzle was a strong freshman class led by Carson Flowers and Maren Wright. Flowers was an inspirational leader who was an all-state, conference and region honoree. Wright was one of W&L's top three finishers in every race she was healthy in. She placed second at state and was an all-region honoree.

Nat Messmore, Kim Herring, and Carson Flowers stride ahead.

Men's Cross Country

Washington and Lee's Men's cross country coach John Tucker was optimistic at the start of this season despite having a team with no seniors. This optimism stemmed from the strong showing of last year's freshman class and Tucker hoped for another strong incoming class.

This year's freshman class proved to be more than Tucker hoped for and wasted little time in showing its ability. In the first meet of the year, the General's first four finishers were all freshmen and that quartet helped pave the way to the school's first conference championship since 1984.

Junior co-captains Tom Fink and Jeff Zeiger provided upperclass leadership by consistently finishing well and motivating the younger members of the team.

Sophomore Sandy Hooper battled injuries all year but had several strong performances, including an 11th place finish at the Dickinson invitational.

Leading the freshman quarter was Jason Callen, who led the Generals in five races, including a third place finish at the state meet and a 10th place finish at NCAA Southeast. Will Olson earned all-state honors as well as Callen with a team leading ninth place finish at the state meet. Other freshman standouts were Taylor Shultz and Greg Ruthig. Shultz finished ninth at ODAC and Ruthig was a consistent top-five finisher for W&L.

Wrestling

Losing two captains for most of the season is never an easy obstacle to overcome for any team, but the wrestling team turned a potential disruption into a positive situation. Captains Eric Shirley and Adam Williams were sidelined most of the season but their departure opened the door for some younger wrestlers to get experience on the mat. Those youngsters fared surprisingly well, and with some gritty performances by veterans, the team had a respectable season, taking fourth at the Division III State championships even though finishing 0-3 in dual meets.

The most successful wrestler for W&L was junior Robert Hull.

The former high school state champion posted a 15-9 record on the season and earned a trip to NCAA regionals, finishing fourth.

Helping Hull in higher weight classes were junior Colin Looney and Lea Abercrombie.

Freshman Allen West and Sophomore Adam Branson helped the team and junior Rob deClerk had his finest season in Lexington, racking up eight wins, taking third at State Championships and fourth at the W&L Invitational.

Doug Panzer and Jared Spahn all had turns filling in for Williams. Panzer was one of two Generals to post a winning record.

Robert Hull puts forth his best to win his wrestling match.

The record does not reflect it, but the Washington and Lee water polo team had its best finish in the history of the program. Although finishing with a 10-13 record, the team qualified for the Eastern championships at Brown University and ultimately finished fourth on the east coast- the best finish ever.

The team's best offensive and defensive player, Peter Sorenson made the all-tournament second team for his strong performance. Sorenson had a great season overall, scoring 54 goals while assisting on 42 others. Both were team highs and contributed to Sorenson's overall 99 points.

Other offensive threats were sophomores James Silberstein and Rich Cober, along with juniors Bryan Drum and Frank Braden. Silberstein switched off with Sorenson as the teams' two-meter man, racking up 44 goals and assisting on 16 others. At the championships at Brown, Cober added to the balance on the team, netting 37 goals with 18 assists while Drum posed another threat with 13 scores. Four seniors, Reuben Munger, Derek DeVries, Tony Diderich, and Davis Sylvester had superb years. Sylvester rached up 300 saves during the course of the season, another record.

Head coach Page Remillard recieved well-deserved post-season honors. His peers recognized the obstacles that the Generals had overcame and voted him Co-Coach of the Year in the East.

A breakthrough year for W&L, the Generals tanked #20 in the final US Water Polo Coaches Association poll.

Women's Basketball

Some would call this season a rebuilding year for the W&L Women's Basketball team. Since this is only the second year of the program's existence, it's just a building year. The team fought its way through a tough ODAC schedule to finish the season with a 6-18 record overall, with all eight of the players getting at least 450 minutes of playing time during the season. With a solid freshman class, the team is well on its way to future successes.

The stalwart for the team all season was junior co-captain Sandra Holmes. She led the team in scoring and rebounding and owns 25 team records. Also leading the team was junior co-captain Allison Hull, who set a season record 68 assists in the year.

The lone senior on this year's team was forward Amy Vogt. She ends her career as the eighth leading scorer. Other contributors were juniors Amy Mihal and Stacy Williams.

The freshmen were the most pleasant surprise of the season. Three first-years provided head coach Terri Dadio with some punch off the bench and in the starting rotation. Michelle Hicks, Tonia Dean, and Rachel Read all gained valuable experience in their inaugural campaigns.

Amy Vogt shoots a basket.

Men's Basketball

For the first time in four years, the Generals qualified for the ODAC Men's Basketball tournament, and although their stay there was a short one, it was a memorable one. W&L took eventual league champion and NCAA tournament participant Hampden Sydney to the wire before falling 76-73.

That effort put a positive spin on what was otherwise a disappointing final month for the Generals. They had dropped eight of their last ten games of the season.

W&L's season began with much promise as the top five scorers from last year's 9-15 squad returned. Junior Cam Dyer continued to blossom into one of the ODAC's biggest stars. The 6'7" forward ranked among the ODAC leaders all year in scoring and rebounding. Dyer scored 31 points against Catholic and 29 points each over Amherst and Mary Washington. He has scored 975 career points.

Senior center and co-captain Mark Connelly also led the team. Jon Coffman and Derek Carter provided the Generals with a boost from the outside and Chris Couzen was one of the best defensive players of the league with 60 steals. Senior guard Tyler Duvall and junior Matt Clark also made key contributions. Key freshmen were Jimmy Schweer and Kelly Dyer.

Men's Swimming

Coach Page Remillard had high hopes for the Generals this winter. The team met his expectations and then some. W&L went 6-1 in dual meets with only an eight point loss to Johns Hopkins and qualified five swimmers for the NCAA Championships. This was the first time since the 1988-89 season that W&L had relay teams at the NCAA meet. The team's strongest swimmer was sophomore Nathan Hottle. The breaststroke specialist earned his way to the "big show" with his performance at the Southern States Championships where he shattered school records in the 100 and 200 breaststroke. Juniors Frank Braden and David Stillman also competed in individual events at the NCAA Nationals.

Relay events were strong all season for the Generals. Senior Tony Diederich and junior Craig Sears helped the 400 freestyle relay team reach the NCAA meet. The highlight of the season came at the Southern States when the Generals finished second despite being the only division III team at the meet. W&L was just 132 points behind Davidson- 129 of those points stemmed from diving events in which W&L does not compete.

Other important swimmers were senior co-captains John Rowe, Grant Hollicky, sophomore Steve Brigance, and freshman John Reed

It's not easy to keep a high level of excellence year after year, but the women's swimming team has dominated the ODAC since 1987. From 1987 until present, the team has won 22 straight dual meets against ODAC foes including a clean sweep this year of rivals Hollins, Sweet Briar, and Randolph Macon Woman's College. For the second straight year the team has taken the ODAC/ Atlantic States Championships with junior Rebekah Prince earning ODAC Swimmer of the Year and All-American honors and Coach Kiki Jacobs was named Atlantic States Coach of the Year. Senior captain Susan Fisher was a consistent swimmer all year. Senior Brandi Henderson was exceptionally strong in the freestyle events while sophomores Laura Marshall and Jen Miller made major contributions. Marshall was an important contributor for the relays, helping W&L capture the ODAC/ Atlantic States crowns in the 200 and 400 medley, and 800 freestyle, while Miller won the same title in the 100 freestyle.

Coach Jacobs was also able to nurture a fine group of freshmen, the strongest of whom was Megan Wiedmaier. At the ODAC/ Atlantic States championships, Wiedmaier captured titles in the 200 and 500 free, and freshman Bligh Wollner took a title in the 100 breaststroke.

Womens' Tennis

High expectations can be a dangerous thing, but the women's tennis team used high expectations to drive them to the best finish in school history. The Generals finished with a mark of 21-2 and placed third at the NCAA Division III championships. W&L stormed through the regular season with an 18-1 record, suffering a 5-4 defeat to Kenyon, and then captured its fifth straight ODAC championship. W&L was rewarded with its second straight bid to the NCAA championships and opened play with a 8-1 win over Skidmore. In the quarterfinals W&L won five singles matches against Amherst to win 6-3. In the semifinals, W&L met up with Kenyon again and the Generals lost to the eventual champion 5-4. The Generals rebounded with a 5-4 victory over Trinity (Texas) in the consolation championship. Individually W&L was just as impressive. Senior Marilyn Baker and freshman Natalia Garcia teamed up to win the national doubles championship. Baker also reached the quarterfinal round of the NCAA singles championship and won a school record 31 matches, including the 100th of her career. Garcia became the first W&L player to reach the semifinal round of the NCAA singles championship and finished her rookie season with a 25-5 record. Juniors Julie Ayers, Shelley Sunderman, sophomore Anna O'Connor, freshmen Ericka Shapard and Berry Blankinship all won ODAC titles.

 End of 10 at ODAC
 Championships

All good things must come to an end and unfortunately that was true this year for the Washington and Lee men's tennis program. After winning the ODAC championship for 10 straight years the Generals reign ended with a second place finish this year.

Lynchburg edged out Washington and Lee by two points in the ODAC championship hosted by W&L. The Generals got ODAC titles from junior Ryan Aday at No. 3 singles, juniors Chris MacNaughton and Jesse Taylor at No. 1 doubles and junior Clay Richards and Aday at No. 3 doubles. MacNaughton also provided one of the biggest surprises at the ODAC tournament.

Macnaughton, an unseeded player, knocked off the No. 2 and No. 4 seeds to reach the finals at the top flight before losing a three set heartbreaker to ODAC Player of the Year Kevin Pendergrast from Guilford in the championship match.

W&L finished the season with a 10-9 team record, including wins over nationally ranked Wooster and Ripon and freshman Glenn Miller had the Generals best record with a 13-9 log at No. 5 singles. Junior Ryan Aday, sophmores Chris Higgs and Damian Brady also posted winning records in the singles play and Aday and Richards teamed up for a 12-2 mark in doubles.

W&L began the season with high expectations but a three-game losing streak late in the season denied the Generals an NCAA berth. Still W&L captured its third straight ODAC championship, bounced from its losing skid with an 11-8 come-from-behind win over VMI in the Lee-Jackson Classic, and finished the year ranked 10th in the nation.

The Generals opened the year 5-0, including an overtime win against Hampden-Sydney, but then suffered losses to second-ranked Gettysburg and Roanoke, the latter a heartbreaking 9-8 decision in overtime on Wilson Field. W&L then won three straight games before losses to Franklin & Marshall, Denison, and Washington College knocked the Generals out of the playoff picture. W&L stopped the slide with a thrilling win over VMI in the Lee-Jackson game. Trailing 7-4 in the third quarter, the Generals reeled off seven straight goals to silence the Keydet faithful and win the city series game for the seventh straight year.

Junior Ande Jenkins led the Generals in scoring with 31 goals and was a first team All-ODAC selection along with senior defenseman Shaun McKenzie. Senior midfielder Scott Mackley, senior attackman Andy Dutton, and sophomore midfielder Adam Butterworth were all named to the second team. Mackley and McKenzie were both selected to the North-South all-star game and named honorable mention All-Americans.

Senior Scott Mackley drives to the goal. Mackley was named to the ODAC second team, the North-South All-Star game and honorable mention All-American.

A schedule that included the defending national champion and last year's national runner-up was sure to provide plenty of challenges. But that schedule also prepared the Washington & Lee women's lacrosse team for a fabulous stretch run.

Washington & Lee closed the regular season with a stunning 11-10 upset victory over Roanoke College and a 5-4 victory over Frostburg State, the Generals fourth and fifth one goal victories of the season. The win over Roanoke gave Washington & Lee the right to host the ODAC Tournament at the Liberty Hall Fields. In the first round the Generals avenged a 13-5 early season loss to Lynchburg with a convincing 9-5 win behind four goals from senior Nicole Ripken. In the championship game W&L fell to Roanoke 12-7 to end the dream run.

Nicole Ripken was named first team All-ODAC along with fellow senior captains Lindsay Coleman and Carrie Niederer. Ripken and Coleman each had 33 goals and Niederer was a key to the Generals defense. Sophomore goalie Brooke Glenn was named second team All-ODAC after setting the school record with 208 saves. Carrie Niederer was also named a third team All-American and Ripken was selected to play in the North-South all-star game. Washington & Lee's senior class of 7 players compiled a record of 44-18 in their careers with two ODAC championships.

Women's Track & Field

After years of waiting the Generals expected to celebrate in February with their first official ODAC championship, but Lynchburg put a hold on those plans by edging out the Generals at the indoor championship. There would be no denying the Generals at the outdoor championships in April.

W&L led the Hornets just 115-110 entering the final two events, but the Generals left little doubt by taking three of the top four spots in the 3,000 meter run and then running away with the 1,600 meter relay race.

Senior Sue Deutsch capped her impressive career by leading the Generals with 22 individuals points at the meet, including a victory in the 1,500 meter run. Sophomore Hollis Leddy placed second in the 200 and 400 meter runs with a school record time of 1:02.05 in the 400 and ran a blazing split of 61.9 seconds on the winning 1,600 meter relay team. W&L's other top scorers from the meet were junior Josephine Schaeffer who won the 3,000 meter run and junior Sandra Homes who won the javelin.

Two other senior Generals closed their career with victories. Sarah Gilbert won the high jump matching her career best at 5-2 and Kim Herring put a final mark on the W&L record book by winning the 800 in a school record time of 2:25.38.

In 1994 the Generals just missed out on the ODAC championship because of a poor showing in the distance events. After winning the cross country championship this fall there was hope of the Washington & Lee Generals wrenching the ODAC title from Lynchburg's grasp, but a lack of depth and injuries relegated Washington & Lee to a third place showing at this year's ODAC meet.

Junior Harris Morrison captured the pole vault title with a vault of 14 feet to complete his sweep at the indoor and outdoor championships and freshman Jason Callen won the 5,000 meter run at Duke, the second fastest time in school history in the 5,000 meter event.

Seniors Grant Cowell and Hayne Hodges closed out their careers in fine fashion with Grant Cowell taking a close second in the 800 meter run and Hayne Hodges placing in the 100 meter and 200 meter dashes.

Callen was the leader of what proved to be a strong freshman class for the Generals. Freshman Omar Moneim took second place in the shot put, Will Olson took fourth in the 5,000, Taylor Shultz took fifth in the 800, Greg Ruthig took fifth in the 1,500 and freshman Brian Huse placed in the long jump and high jump.

W&L's diamond men showed marked improvement this spring, but luck wasn't on their side as they finished the season 8-19 with seven losses by three runs or less. The Generals did score some impressive victories with their first win over Hampden-Sydney since 1989 and their first win over perennial conference power Guilford since the Quakers joined the league in 1992. W&L's five conference wins was also the school's most since 1989.

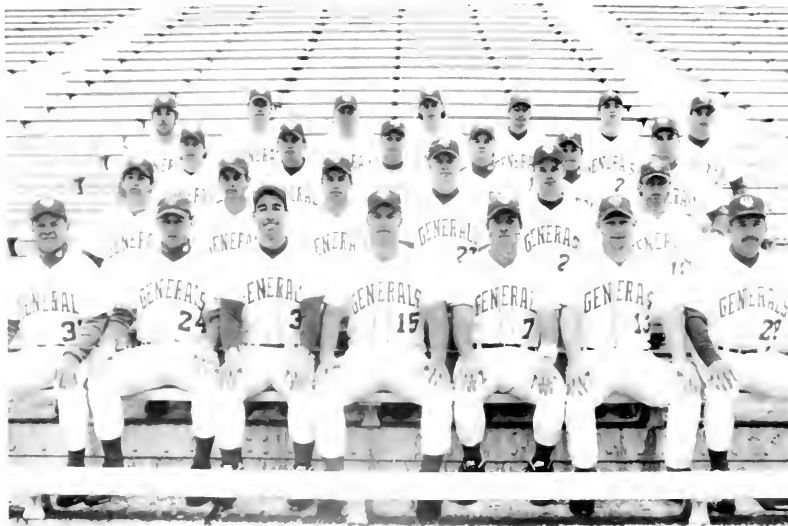

Senior Bates Brown was one of the most dangerous two-way players in the league and was a first team All-ODAC selection as designated hitter. Brown led the Generals with a .364 batting average while belting nine doubles and four homers and driving in 25 runs. On the mound he was W&L's ace with a 4-2 record and a 4.24 earned run average.

W&L featured a potent offense that also included four other regulars over the .300 plateau. Senior catcher Todd Stanton hit a career-best .340, sophomore third baseman Tucker Bixby hit .333, junior left fielder Graig Fantuzzi hit .326 with 11 steals and junior center fielder Owen Smith hit .315. Fantuzzi was a second team All-ODAC selection and a first team GTE Academic All-American.

Senior Bates Brown earned first team All-ODAC honors.

Three key players graduated from W&L's 1994 ODAC championship squad, but you wouldn't have known it from the performances of the 1995 Generals. W&L placed second in three early season tournaments and then caught fire in late April, winning three of their last four tournaments and finishing just two shots off the pace in their one loss. Culminating that tournament victory run was a one-shot victory over Guilford in ODAC tournament allowing W&L to win its eighth ODAC golf crown, a conference record.

Helping the Generals to the championship was the continued emergence of sophomore Tommy Dudley. Dudley had finished the 1994 season strong and never missed a beat. He earned medalist honors three times, including a 68 at the Virginia Wesleyan Invitational, and broke 80 in the first 10 rounds of the season to post a 77.1 scoring average. Dudley was named the ODAC Golfer of the Year.

Sophomore Jay Ingram was also a consistent force and captured the individual title at the ODAC championships with a 36-hole score of 152. Ingram finished second on the team with a 79.8 scoring average. Juniors Gam Mattingly, Scott Miller, and Trevor Spencer also helped lift the Generals to the ODAC title with Mattingly placing fourth at the championship.

Women's Tennis Goes To Nationals

Senior Marilyn Baker won the NCAA doubles championships with teammate freshman Natalia Garcia.

It was quite a week for the Washington & Lee women's tennis team both as a team and individually. The team as a whole won three out of four matches at the NCAA tournament held at Sweet Briar College, Virginia, culminating with a 5-4 victory over Trinity (Texas) for third place overall. Marilyn Baker and Natalia Garcia also both participated in the singles and doubles portions of the championships. Garcia made it to the semifinals before being ousted by eventual champion Nao Kinoshita of Rhodes and Baker progressed to the quarterfinals. Baker and Garcia teamed up to win the first national championship in women's athletics in Washington & Lee history as they took the doubles crown, knocking off the No. 1 ranked team in the nation from Williams in the semifinals and the No. 2 team from Gustavus Adolphus in the finals, both in three sets.

In the team competition, the Generals dismissed Skidmore in the first round, 8-1 before running into Amherst in the quarterfinals. Amherst went up 2-1 after doubles as the tandem of Anna O'Connor and Ericka Shapard was the only duo to win for W&L. The Generals rebounded in singles as Baker, knocked off the No. 1 player in the nation, Julie Rosenstein, in straight sets, and Garcia, Shapard, Julie Ayers, and Shelley Sunderman picked up wins for the 6-3 win and a trip to the semifinals. In the semifinals, the Generals faced Kenyon, the team that had provided W&L its sole loss of the season. It looked like W&L was going to avenge the loss after taking a 2-1 lead after doubles, but Kenyon bounced back to take four of six matches for the 5-4 victory and eventually the national championship with a win over University of California-San Diego. The Generals moved on to the consolations where they were downed by Trinity, 5-4, for third place.

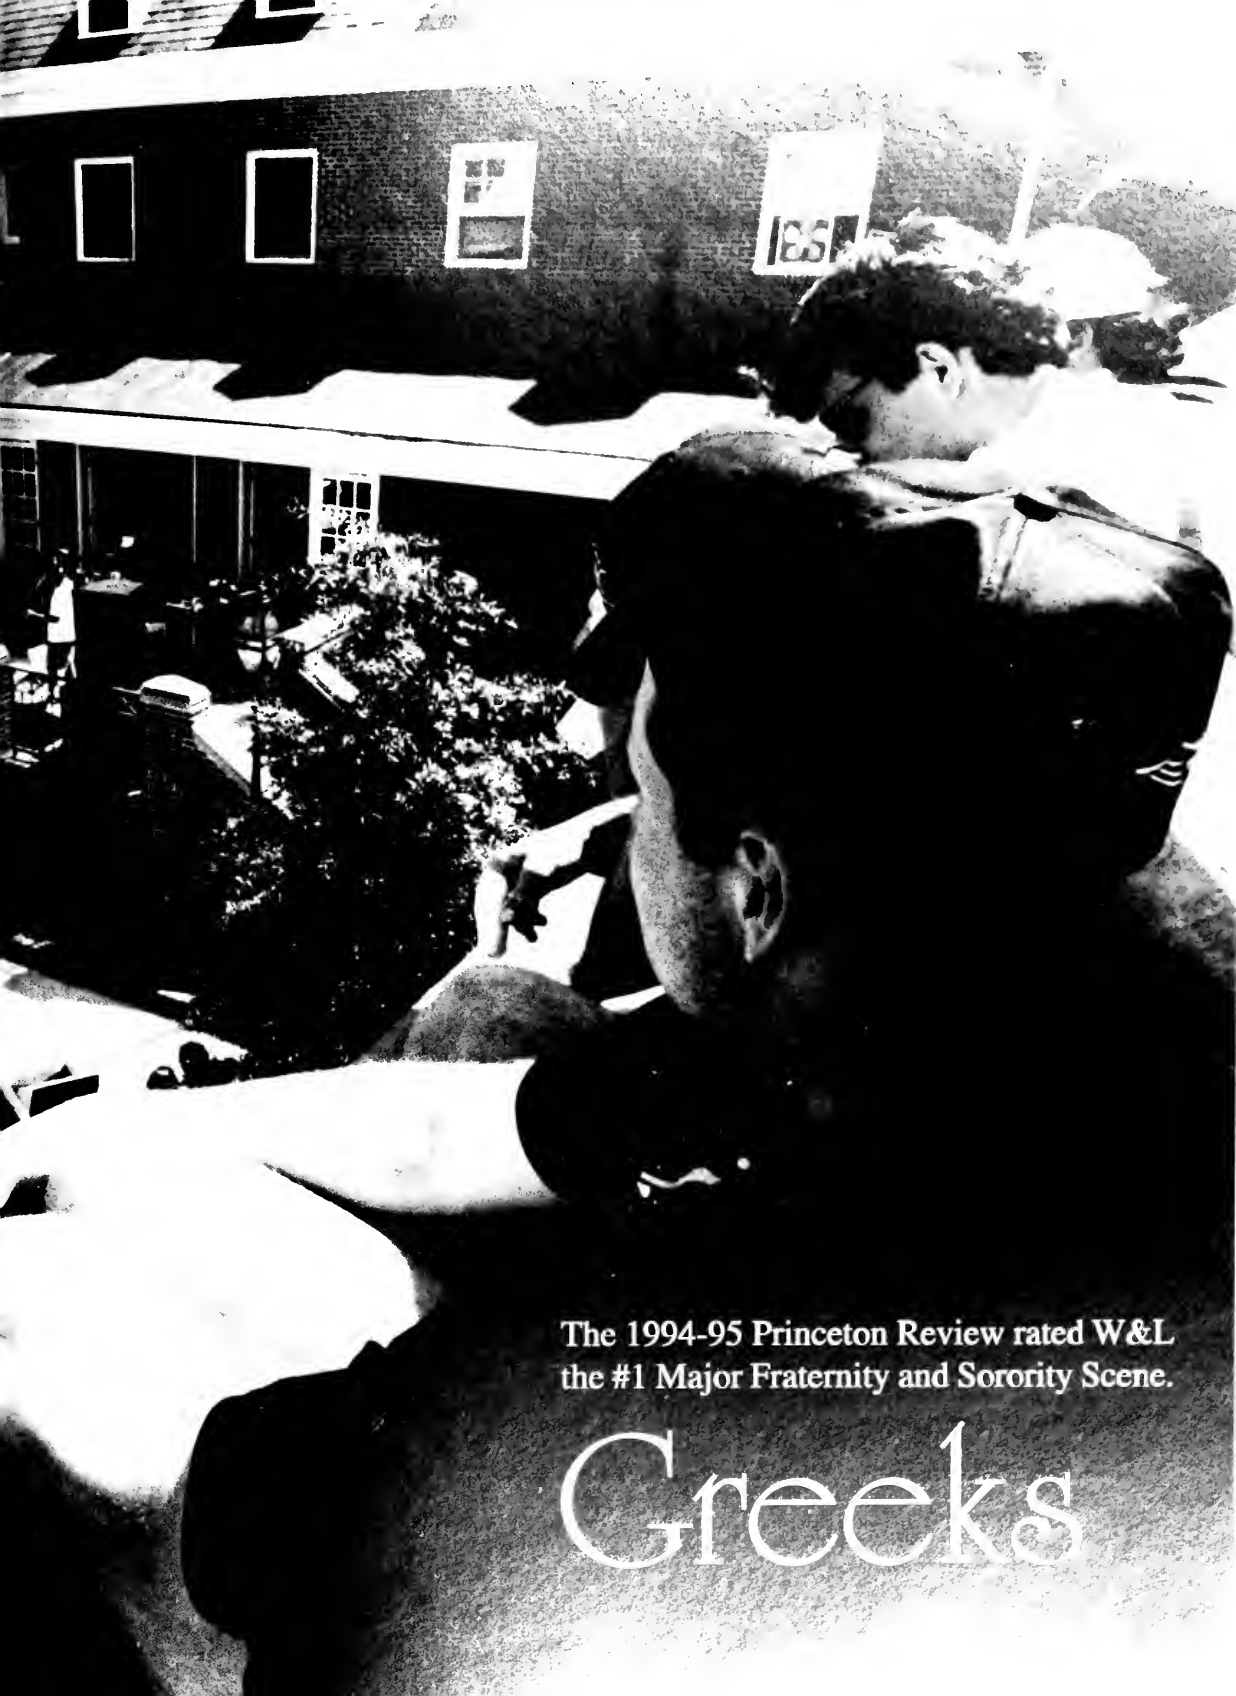

Helping to shore up the third place victory was freshman Ericka Shapard who won her 30th match of the season, a freshman record. Shapard was undefeated in NCAA team play (4-0) and her only two losses of the season came against W&L's Marilyn Baker in the Rolex tournament and a Division I opponent at the Old Dominion Tournament, both in the fall.

As the rest of the team returned to Lexington, Marilyn Baker and Natalia Garcia stayed at Sweet Briar for the individual competition in singles and doubles. Both got off to a fast start, advancing to the quarterfinals allowing W&L to boast of being the only school with two players in the top eight in the nation. Baker downed Susie Drage of U.C.-S.D. and Kristen Sherrill of Ohio Wesleyan to advance to the quarters before losing to Emory's Amy Smith. Garcia beat Kenyon's No. 1 player Ali St. Vincent, 6-3, 6-0 in the first round and then waxed Anabel Flores of Washington College in the second round, 6-4, 6-3. Garcia then beat Alison Mizuo of Claremont to become the first W&L player to reach the semifinals. In the semis, Nao Kinoshita, the eventual champion, beat Garcia.

In doubles, Garcia and Baker put their names in the record books, becoming the first Washington & Lee females to win a national title in either a team or individual sport. Baker and Garcia defeated doubles team from Hope, Luther, defending champions Williams, and Gustavus Adolphus to take the doubles crown.

W&L also dominated the awards at the Intercollegiate Tennis Association banquet on Friday night. Marilyn Baker was named the ITA Player of the Year, head coach Cinda Rankin was named the ITA Coach of the Year, and Natalia Garcia was named the ITA South Region Rookie of the Year.

BΘΠ

The 1994-95 school year proved yet again that Beta, in the words of Dean Buddy Atkins, is the hardest partying bunch of cocky self-centered b*stards in all of fraternity land.

This first became evident with the commencement of Rush in the Fall. While all the other fraternities were kissing *ss and serving Pepsi at their parties, the Dragons could be found boozing it up and hurling things off the back porch. This tactic managed to scare off all the spazzes and geeks, as well as a majority of the babes. Nonetheless, the House emerged with twelve solid pledges and a really bad hangover.

Following the success of Rush, highlighted by the aerial sendoff of the old Beta foosball table, the B's celebrated Homecoming in traditional fashion. The annual Mongolian Minks initiation was held on Friday, followed by a three-kegger at Stucco. All the new initiates rejoiced at the sight of even more alcohol at the tailgate party on Saturday. Truly Beta defined W&L's "play hard-play hard" ethic to a tee.

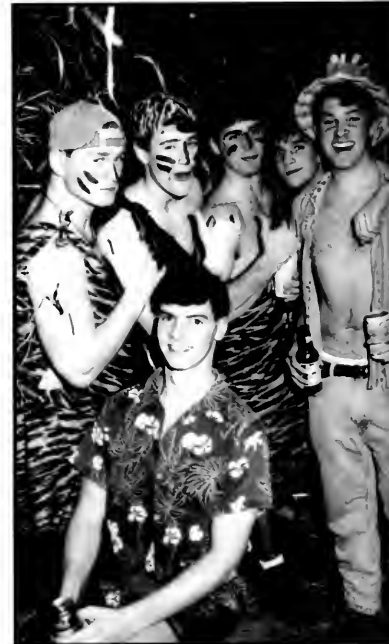

Parent's Weekend was the next big event on the Alpha Rho social Calendar. All the parents were impressed with the quality of our girlfriends at the Beta-Kappa tailgate mixer, who, surprisingly enough all dumped on us by Monday. Ahh, isn't love grand? Later that evening, the Dragons took part in a Loving Cup Ceremony with returning alumni, which featured the honorary induction of Leslie Ratz's Dad. Go figure.

After a successful Halloween party at Zollman's, as well as a memorable Thanksgiving feast with Dr. J. D. Futch, it was time once again for Christmas Weekend. Brother Lynch was truly the hit of the dinner party, having once again put his genius to work on the Beta Wish List and Senior Predictions. Even Brother Suthard couldn't help chuckling when Lynch predicted he'd get a job first as "Handy Dandy Andy," the speedy delivery, Mr. McPheely-type mailman; then as the president of R. J. Reynolds, after breaking the 200 pack-a-day record set by Jimmy Magargee of Duncannon, PA in 1977. After dinner, the Betas stumbled on over to Phi Delt for the annual Uncle Mingo bash.

Winter term was highlighted by Jungle Party, which featured many Betas and their dates in various states of undress. After downing a couple of bottles of Mad Dog, Brother Crawford could be found bouncing off the walls Screaming "BAAAHHHH!!!" Where did this guy come from? Nonetheless, most were able to speak intelligibly long enough to score some booty. Brother Mintz's night was particularly kinky, and can only be summed up in two words-- SNIP, SNIP. We'll save the rest of the details for the tabloids.

A near tragedy occurred in the first week of Beta's Spring Term. The annual Beta-Kappa Wine and Cheese Party-- usually the most looked-forward-to event of the year--almost got cancelled! Thanks to the brilliant planning of Social Chairman Dave Thomson, however the party was held the last week of classes, and was as good as ever.

The House would like to extend a hearty best wishes to its twelve graduating seniors. Truly the tough guy image of Alessi, the tied-down family man ethic of Roger, the abnormal sleeping habits of Jamie, the meathead antics of Higgins, the reclusive tendencies of Beau, the lackadaisical passivity of Lamberson, the hilarious spontaneity of Lynch, the LaX guy cockiness of Mackley, the dirtball habits of Mintz, the laid back/no work attitude of Murph, the drinkin' buddy persona of Ty, and the smoking abilities of Suthard will be missed by all. Have a good life.

The brothers of Chi Psi returned to Lexington planning to charge into rush, but unfortunately we spent more time drinking than rushing. The early numbers were discouraging, but with the late additions of Daffy, Phelch and Millhouse, the pledge class grew to an almost respectable number.

The Rainmakers spiced up a homecoming party that had been put to sleep by Andy's annual speech and puzzled by the formal Bar-b-que (?) on the lawn. Leggz kept Halloween interesting and Christmas weekend came and went with a borrowed tree and a party with B S and M.

The winter term started off with a bang as Corky took over the social reigns. Even Rick and Weute got out on the dance floor during the infamous DJ HC's and MUOAB. Greek even found the helmet. FD flourished with the addition of the late night DJ and a return of the Rainmakers Saturday night. "Rock On!"

Anyway, we'd like to say goodbye to a year when...fuusball and frisbee on the lawn were the number one reasons for procrastination, a few brothers got "wedged", social probation was the norm, Alf stole everything he could get his hands on, and Vic led his girl scout troop down the path towards manhood.

We'd also like to say goodbye to our departing seniors, especially the Jestor and Bilbo who liked it here so much they decided to give it another year. Good luck, the Lodge will never be the same.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College in Lexington, Virginia in 1865. One hundred and thirty years later, Alpha Chapter continues to excel at many things under the fearless leadership of Alan Schoelkopf and his cabinet of advisors, Mike Weinfeld and Britt Seal. The Brothers of KA play a variety of leadership roles in the classroom, on the athletic fields, and in the campus and community.

Two Brothers were inducted into Omicron Delta Kappa, the honor society founded at W&L, and one into Phi Beta Kappa. Not only did Alpha chapter have members on a variety of varsity sports teams, but its brothers held captain positions on the football, baseball, lacrosse, and track. Furthermore, members actively participated in and led groups such as the Executive Committee, Student Activities Board, and Kathekon. Also, KA contributed to the community with its annual Christmas party for Lexington children and its "hoop-it-up" tournament for Muscular Dystrophy.

We will miss those members graduating this year, and want to wish them the best in the future. G.T.P. Brothers!

Evening, ladies, remember these words, the brain tonic is always shaken not stirred. Our year began with good fortune, indeed, as all could bite off the "royale with cheese." Tracks r.i.p. but please pass the p-funk and on your way bid out farewell to the Hunk (and his flatulent geriatric pooch). Mongo and Man-O are on the same, yet Lightning never worked as a catchy nickname. The Meat chimed in that med school's profane and long will we miss our matriarch Brain. Our ex-president by god threatened to break any glass, and Puddin did sizzle when she fell on her floor. Now you can wonder as we wander our ways of memories resonance of the quiet rage. Now slip beneath the Blue Ridge cloak, and wonder what we meant about a pig and a poke. Vince wrote this and I think it's a joke.

225 East Nelson Street again saw hope for the future during the past year. Many memories prevail (which is a bit surprising, with the Red Dog special that seemed to last all year). We came back from summer ready to tackle rush. During "hunting season" came The Unknowns and Tropical Party, which made our house look less like Lexington and more like the set of "Blue Hawaii". After accepting 11 future brothers into the house on tear night, and enduring World Without Talant, we moved on to Homecoming, with some alumni reacquainting themselves with the practice of bowing to the porcelain throne. More importantly, however, we brought home the trophy for the first place in the float competition and a knowledge that we have connections at the Reese's Candy Company. During November, we focused our efforts on the North American Food Drive, during which we raised over 1700 pounds of food for TAP, a community food bank. Christmas saw another wild weekend with Doug Clark and the Hotnuts, the incredible puking elf, stupid alumni tricks on our stairway, KA pledges going home without a tree, and the return of the boxer rebellion. With the January snowfall came the band Highwater from Virginia Beach to play Nuclear Waste (that doesn't taste like Jell-O!). Some traditions never change, and FD was no exception to this old adage. Roger Day and The Unknowns were reunited for a second performance, and even a little date swapping occurred to replace the fireworks which didn't go off over Woods Creek. Initiation brought with it The Press, cheap champagne, cigar-filled rooms, and Dougie on the drums.

Bob and Will are leaving, and will be missed. Thanks a lot guys. . . you kept the torch alive. Other significant items of interest: 1M Golf; Jane the wondercook; Point of View; Iggy; Christmas Weekend Breakfast (all you can "eat"); Fooz; and Sonny, the Grand High Delta. . . DAAAAAAMN!

Phi Delt once again enjoyed a tremendously successful year in 1994-1995. For the first time in recent memory, the Phis were able to remain probation free and to enjoy a full schedule of meals, meetings, and of course, frat parties. Several Phis distinguished themselves in positions of leaderships on campus. Sandy Hooper blew by the competition in becoming elected representative to the Executive Committee, Ryan Connolly won a heated race to become elected President of the Interfraternity Council, and Matt Reedy established himself as one of the Lexington community's business leaders.

Several other Phis made spectacular contributions on the athletic fields. Jon Wagner and William Propst were selected First Team All ODAC football. Brooks Fischer put in shocking performances both on and off the football field, while fellow sophomore Travis Wisdom saved his best performances for the bus rides home. The junior class also contributed to the success of the football team, as Tom Bradbury led the team in the incline press--second in the house only to Rob Hines. Fellow Phi Jon McElhaney was known to put up a few pounds throughout the year as well. Captain Chris Norris MacNaughton and teammate Clay Richards helped lead the tennis team to record heights. Jon "Burrito" Coffman led the basketball team in three-point attempts yet again.

The less meaty Phis were able to enjoy a full social calendar devoid of weightlifting, including Tequila Parties at Hogback Hill and shady shenanigans in the VP suite. The Grapes entertained at Homecoming, Uncle Mingo at Christmas, and the return of Quiet Riot is eagerly anticipated for Hell's Angels in the Spring. Overseeing it all for the past five years has been Grandpa, the Phi most deserving of a graduation congratulations.

1994-95 year was another up and down year for the brothers of the Zeta Deuteron Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. The brothers returned in the fall only to remember that they were still in the middle of an eighteen month suspension. However, this did not dampen their spirits too much as they worked hard to successfully complete a ten point action plan which allowed for an early reinstatement in January. Following the reinstatement, it was business as usual for the reformed, kinder, gentler, Fij.

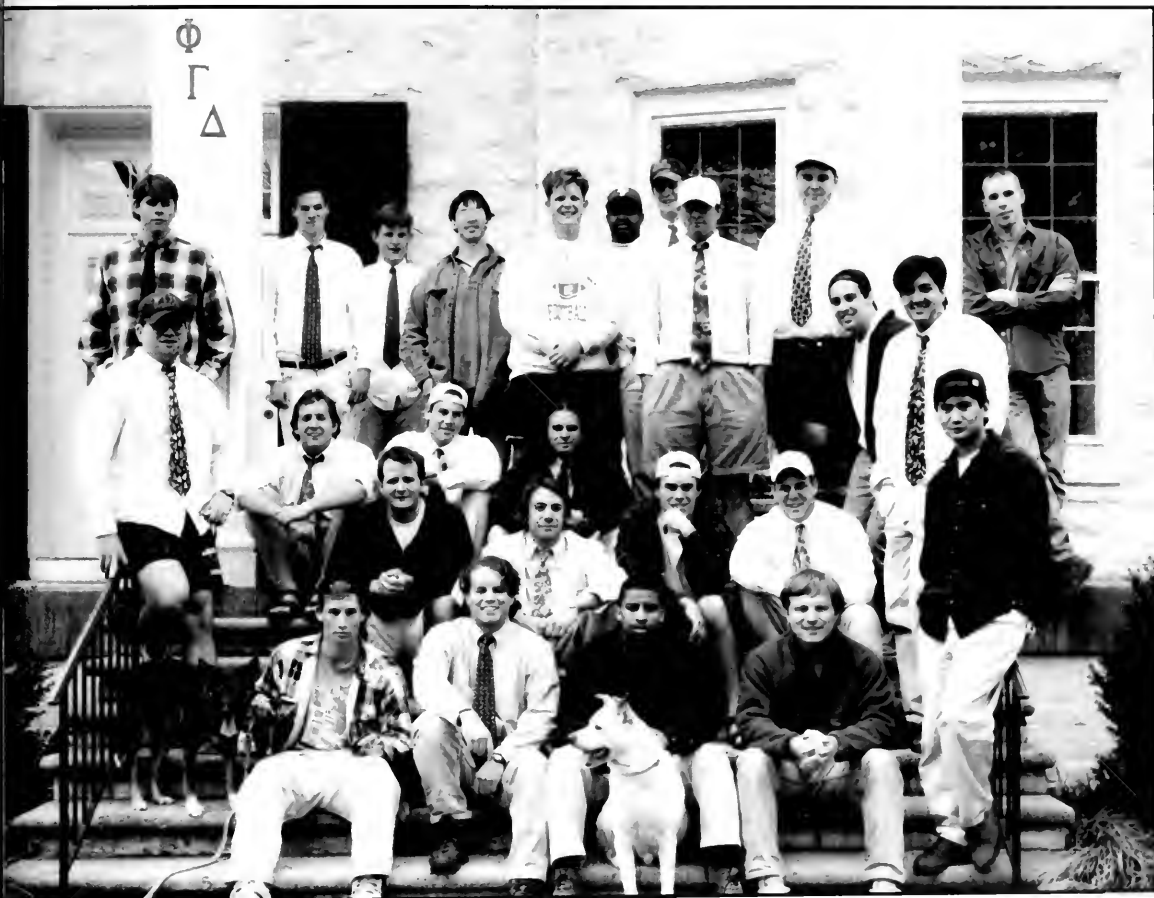

Despite the suspension, brothers were visible throughout campus life, representing the Generals in Football, soccer, water polo, swimming, wrestling, baseball, and track, as well as in various leadership positions throughout the university.

Following their return, the Fij treated the campus to a Return to Campus Party with Blue Miracle which was a success despite the presence of constantly chafing law students. The brothers also continued various traditions such as Champagnes, House Mountain, Islands, and a successful Alumni Weekend. On the academic side, the Fij substantially increased its GPA, mostly due to the addition of six outstanding freshmen. However, despite the addition of these six, we are saddened by the loss of nine seniors, Treese, Davis, Beaver, Big Cork, Disease, Head, Veale, Lea and Klaus (still pending). We hope they will all return for a successful, trouble free 95-96.

The brothers of Phi Kappa Psi had a very successful 1994-1995 school year. Our rush managed to produce one of the scrappiest pledge classes in Phi Psi history, led by the Mighty Dynan and his fisticuffs. Phi Psi brothers again represented all four classes on the SCC, along with representatives on the EC and IFC. Congratulations go to Bob Turner who will captain the football team next year, and to all the brothers who participated in basketball, track, lacrosse, swimming, wrestling, and water polo.

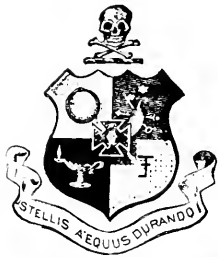

Wednesday night hall crawls became a Phi Psi tradition this year, and social chairman Darran Winslow furnished a beautiful new billiards/foosball room on our third floor. The social calendar wouldn't have been complete without the appearance of The Bub and Curnutte and Maher, although Drew Denbo did attempt suicide upon hearing that Freeway broke up. Other highlights of the year include firing our cook William, stakeouts on the observation deck, the Denbo-Raisin controversy, and the Andrew Tapley hearings.

Unfortunately, we must bid farewell to ten seniors: Quinn Kiley, Ted "Assman" Dimitry, Matt London, Alex "Iron" Cross, Steve "Sleepy" Wakefield, Drew "Freeway gets me stiff" Denbo, Pete Tapley, Ian Falk, Tom Garber, and Temple Cone. We are also finally saying goodbye to Chip Hathaway. Way to go Louis, we knew you could do it!

We all look forward to next year's pledge class carnival, complete with a bearded lady and plenty of beer and salad. With Bill Trubeck taking the command from Alex Cross, we all anticipate a more laid back '95-'96 edition of Phi Kappa Psi.

The 1994-95 school year has been a good one for the brothers of the Skull. Rush was another great success this year as the Phi Kaps netted 16 freshmen. Many thanks to the fourth annual appearance of Danger Zone in the Skull basement and the efforts of rush chairmen, Jud Allen, Mason New, and Scott Willard. Fall Term continued in a Skullriffic tone set from the beginning with a great Homecoming behind Phi Kap groovin' to the soulful tunes of The Phase Band.

Winter Term was no exception as the Skulls continued to contribute weightily to the W&L scene. This year's Fancy Dress Weekend rivaled any in history with the highlight, an afternoon of pure Liquid Pleasure. Spring brought lacrosse season - a big time for the Skulls. The many Phi Kap lacrosse players helped the Generals complete another successful season led by senior Andy Dutton crankin' the rock.

Leading the school academically, athletically, and socially, the Skulls haven't slipped an inch this year. We expect continued success in the future and bid farewell to the outgoing seniors - President Ryan Boone, Secretary Andy Dutton, Treasurer Matt Willis, Vice President Rob Gamble, recent addition and Rush Chairman Jud Allen, and class of '99 Brian O'Mailey. Good luck to all the underclassmen and future Skulls.

The brothers of the Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha enjoyed yet another festive and memorable year at Washington and Lee in 1994-95. We kicked off the year with the Edwin McCain Band and had another successful rush in which we pledged 19 freshmen. A lot of people did cool things this year as well.

Here is a brief summary: Nathan Hottle swam really fast. James Silberstein, Reuben Munger, Rich Cober, Frank Braden, Sly, and Grant Holicky played some good water polo. Chris Higgs played nice tennis. Munster drank alot. Hunter stank. "The Bitch" wrestled. Cam Dyer was pretty good at basketball. And the rest of us did not do a d*mned thing.

Alas, it is time we bid farewell to the class of 95. Our 24 seniors have been instrumental to the tremendous success of the house for the past few years. We thank you very much and wish you luck in the future. We must now look forward to a great 95-96.

1994-95 has been another fast-paced and successful year for the brothers of Rho chapter. We showed that quality and not quantity is important to the brotherhood, initiating nine new members in March.

The social calendar was as full as ever. Rho chapter brought the Sick Dogs to town again, introduced W&L to the Six Million Dollar Band, and also hosted Blue Miracle.

Christmas Weekend was another smashing success, as Jupiter Coyote provided the entertainment. FD proved to be a similarly grand occasion, with Keller Williams, Vertical Horizon, and 2 Skinny J's providing the tunes.

This year Rho chapter graduates 12 seniors. These brothers will be sorely missed in the years to come. Good luck guys.

The 1994-95 school year was another in the long tradition of excellence and frat life for the hippest cats on Washington Street. The year began with back-to-back shocks because we lost two significant figures. Our beloved Pasty, who apparently grew tired of statue demolition and dog mockery, hit the road for parts unknown. Luckily for SAE, who was replaced by the irresistible curmudgeon, Nurse Ratchet, who proved to us that we can never have enough stroganoff. The next blow came with Janie's departure for the Chop Shop and a cleaner cut of smack. A final blow came when Pennyweed "de-Dawg-ed" and took his services Down Under.

Rush was successful in keeping the ties to Memphis and P'cola alive. "Heed, pants now!". Phive Apples went to Scooter, T-holm, and Lil' Dickie Cummins who will continue his rush services for many years to come. The pledge class kept certain traditions alive in this year of change under the Labia/Buddy administration. The fire walking torch was passed from Cherry to D.T., and unfortunately, the Pirmie-Heiple quick exit emerged yet again. Fight the power, T.J.

In IM competition, the Fighting Apples fared well under the hyperactive leadership of one of the Chosen People, although ping pong was lost for the second consecutive year. There was an emotional soccer victory over Phi Kap and their skull-riffic uniforms, and the basketball team made it to the final four. The last minute picket fence, however, and all of Preston's back hair could not defeat Yankee Stadium. The highlight of Spring will be the RARO softball cup defense as the "E's" sans Peeps McCrary, fight for the second keg o' brew.

The social scene for the neighbor of the best house on campus was successful. An early defeat for Homecoming Queen was silenced by the resurrection of Paddy Murphy and another chance for Lawson of Arabia to make t-shirts. Santa schooled the elves and reindeer while destroying Windfall in the process, and he was prematurely whisked away to Stonewall Jackson for cramps. An unusual event transpired in late Winter as a busload of beav came to the lodge from C-ville. Russell was busted by the police for indecency, Aaron preached free speech and free chimney sweeping, and Horsehead sweet-talked FW into submission.

The end of the year comes with the Tater taking the reins, and the future of SAE is uncertain due to the departure of sixteen to eighteen of the finest men to ever know the na-noo na-noo. Prudence will prevail, however, a good time will be had by all, and the taco meat will remain to be low-grade dog food. Vaya Con Dios.

ΣΧ

The 1994-95 school year brought together the old school and the new school-those who remember the old house and its traditions and those who look to carry on the old traditions in the new house. Led by our capable president T. R. Kinsey, the seniors who leave us certainly ensured the permanence of the old ways.

Zeta Chapter once again provided influential leadership for the University. Jason Ward, S. R. Evans, Graham Frey, and Derek Thompson were dorm counselors. Next year Jason will be head dorm counselor, S. R. an assistant head dorm counselor, and David Jones will join the ranks as a new dorm counselor. T. R. also served as head of the Student Recruitment Committee, while Kevin Batteh helped us make it through another year as IFC chairman. Zeta chapter was also well represented on the athletic front. T. R. Kinsey tore up the golf course as a member of the team, while Cary Hansel tore up his opponents in wrestling. Matt Ermigiotti dominated the mound and patrolled the outfield. Graham Frey made significant contributions to the track team while Kevin Hocking, Chad Dobbins, Andy Daters, Josh Cashill, and Mike Matechak did the same for the soccer team. Kelly Dyer was large and in charge on the basketball court while Craig Sears and Erik Holbrook swam really fast in the pool. The brothers of Zeta chapter enjoyed a year full of numerous social events thanks to the planning efforts of our socail chairmen Chris Santora, Andy Shapira, and Jason Barton, and financial wizardry of Trey Block.

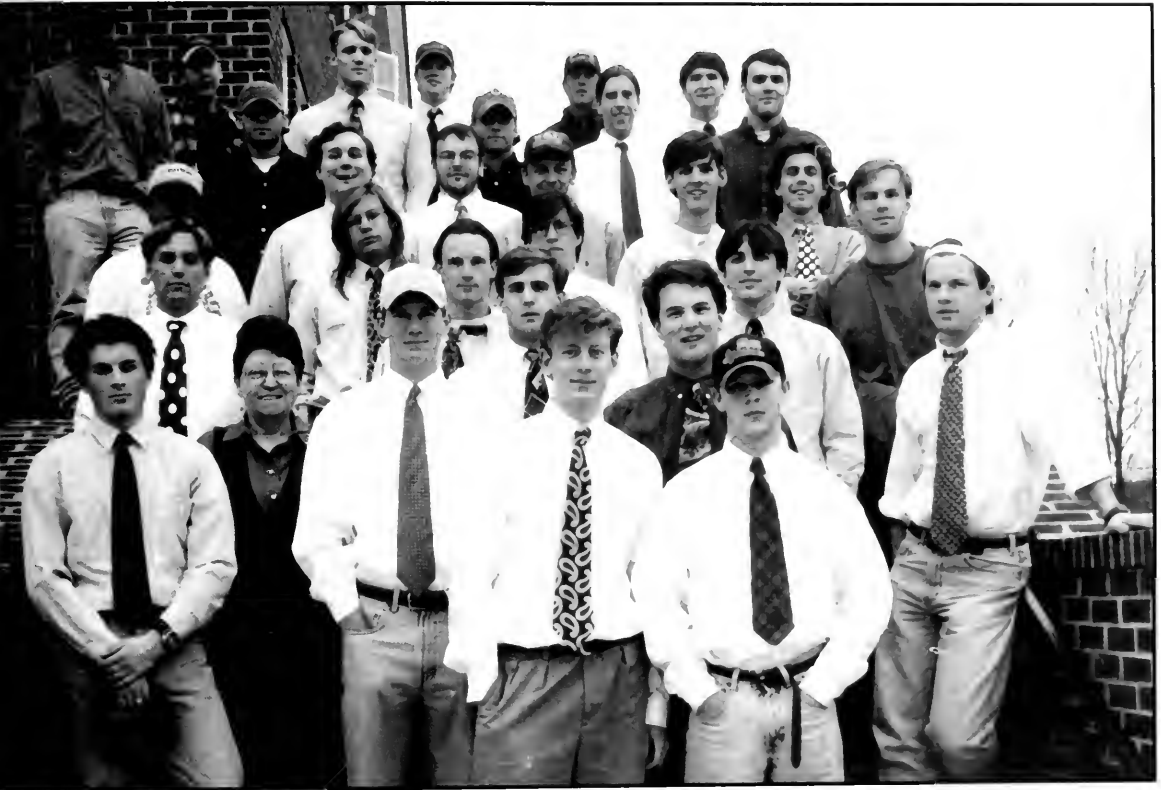

As the year closes, we look back to the class that now leaves us behind and are grateful for their past accomplishments and the vision they have given us for the future.

The brothers of Sigma Nu, Lambda chapter, finished the chapter's 112th year at Washington and Lee. We had another record year for membership with 18 new initiates.

Fall term was highlighted by the Lost in the Supermarket reunion concert at Halloween and the annual White Rose formal in December.

Between social events, the brothers kept busy with leadership positions in the Fancy Dress Ball, The Ring-tum Phi, the University Wind Ensemble, WLUR-FM, and Channel 2 Television, to mention only a few. Sigma Nu placed well in intramurals again. More brothers also joined the ranks of the University Scholars and the R.E. Lee Scholarship program.

In the winter and spring Sigma Nu organized Fancy Dress activities, as well as the annual Shipwreck party at the end of April.

In June we said goodbye to the seniors, knowing we'd soon see them again for Mark Crider's wedding. We wish all of our seniors good luck in all of their endeavors and invite them to always come back to 4 Henry Street: our home.

The brothers of Virginia Epsilon enjoyed another fine year of fraternizing at our Davidson Park relocation as we continued to alienate our neighbors (Thanks, Ely). Once again we landed an excellent pledge class. The freshmen were involved in numerous sports, including baseball, cross-country, track, water polo and window breaking. Sig Ep freshmen were also members of EC, FLC, and FOC. Even though the freshmen were busy picking up sloppy scraps, watering D.C. subway stations, and conferring with Dean Manning, they managed to find time to win the Gong Show and to take third place in the Lipsync.

The sophomore class moved into the house and promptly began to destroy things, including the bathroom, the foosball table, Small's car, E's ankle, and the pride of several brothers. The sophomores, while anxiously awaiting the arrival of a fat man's car, represented the house well as members of College Republicans, College Democrats, the Trident, the Ring, Tum Phi, Young Life, IV, FOC, SRC, and WLUR.

The juniors may have done something, but we all missed it.

We will try to miss Phil, Scheve, Ray, Drew, Moaney, Snyder, Travis, The Bear, Jamie, Hallet and Cox's quality road cheese. We wish our seniors the best of luck in the future.

All things considered, 1994-95 was a great year. Later.

Under the supreme leadership of President Noelle Parrott, the 1994-95 school year has proved to be yet another success for the Xi Lambda Chapter of Chi-Omega. Sisters started the year promoting Halloween spirit by leaving a trail of carved pumpkins around campus which also inadvertently displayed their stellar kniving abilities. This was just a glimpse of what was yet to come.

Chi-o sisters could be found on the Trident, Kathekon, Ring-Tum Phi, JubiLee, the Calyx, Student Recruitment, Cable 2 and the SAB. Leadership positions such as class officers, peer counselors, and dorm counselors were held by Chi-O's. Aside from a strong campus involvement sisters volunteered for RACASA, Habitat for Humanity, and helped to organize Step for Heart and the Making Strides Walkathon while also regularly finding time to read to local nursery school children.

Social events such as fraternity mixers, Screw Your Sisters, Persephone's Gala, Blue Jean Ball with Pi Beta Phi, Headbangers Ball with Theta, Centennial Ball, and Dark Side of the Moon with Kappa provided the sisters with ample opportunities to go wild. Unfortunately, the debut of handcuffs as party favors for Headbangers Ball met some resistance consequently leading to the idea's rejection.

Chi-O's showcased their athletic abilities in track, tennis, soccer, volleyball, lacrosse, swimming, and cross-country. Even those not involved in a varsity sport demonstrated their athletic skills as participants in Intramurals and club sports.

A valiant effort during rush provided Xi Lambda with 29 awesome new members who we are sure will carry on Chi-Omega's strong traditions and friendships. We are sad to see our seniors go. We wish them the best of luck in the future and know they will always be "in da' house." Xi Lambda's future looks promising as Sarah Brombacher takes over as the new President!

Thetas have once again kept themselves busy throughout the 94-95 school year as the Zeta Iota members of Kappa Alpha Theta were involved in every aspect of campus life.

The year began with our annual witch-watch at Halloween when we help to patrol the Lexington Neighborhoods. Next came our infamous Gong Show which is thrown to raise money for Court Appointed Special Advocates. In addition, the money raised by our Valentine's Day Rose Sale went to CASA.

Thetas are also involved in everything from SAB and the Fancy Dress Steering Committee to Student Recruitment and Kathekon; our very own Courtney Tucker is a tri-chair for Mock Convention and very successfully organized the spring kick-off weekend.

We were of course kept busy with our various social events such as our black tie Twin Stars Ball, My Tie, and the ever-popular Headbanger's Ball with Chi-Omega. Along with our mixers and tailgates, Spring Fling with Pi Beta Phi topped off our social calendar.

Zeta Iota wishes its graduating seniors the best of luck in years to come. Although we will miss them next year, we have 31 new members to keep our spirits up.

KKΓ

The Zeta Tau Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma had an exciting 1994-95 year under the leadership of old president Liz Holleman and new president Betsy Blunt. The Kappas continue to shine in athletics, leadership, academics, and Having Fun.

The Kappas can be found participating in lacrosse, tennis, track, cross-country, swimming, basketball, and soccer. Leadership positions on campus held by Kappas include the Secretary of the Executive Committee, the Auditor of Fancy Dress, the Presidnet of Women & Leadership, the President of Freshman Orientation, the President of the Sophomore class, officers and members of the the SAB, Kathekon, Student Recruitment, Student Development, Mock Convention, Dorm Counselor Staff, Theater, JubiLee, and more. Kappa Carol Pierce was named Homecoming Queen in the fall, and many Kappas were inducted into ODK and Phi Beta Kappa.

The Kappas stay busy year round by participation in every women's sport and extracurricular activity on campus. The Kappas definitely live by the expression "Work hard, play hard." Kylie Edwards organized tailgates for football, our Tacky Party with Pi Phi, Phi Kap mixer, Beta Wine & Cheese, Kite and Key with Theta, Fall Formal, Dark Side of the Moon, and Monmouth. A new band, Agents of Good Root, helped to make Famous Lovers a huge success, and our Spring Formal was heated up with Doug Clark and the Hotnuts.

The Kappas took part in the Mayflower parade, PTA babysitting, and pumpkin carving for a local nursing home. In addition, Hillary Olson organized the successful Bowl-a-Thon for the United Way. Our wonderful and talented pledge class of 1995 performed in two unforgettable acts at the annual SAMS Lip Sinc contest and won both first and second place!

1995 rush brought in 32 incredible pledges to add to the chapter. These girls will continue to uphold the strength of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Seniors, good luck in the real world. We know that all of you will continue to be successful in the years to come wherever you go. You will all be missed!!

ΠΒΦ

The '94-'95 school year was a wild and crazy one for the VA Theta chapter of Pi Beta Phi. Under the fearless leadership of President Carrie Baker we gave our departing seniors a year to remember. The beginning of the year was a blur of tailgates; we rallied behind W&L's fine football team and gave our parents a taste of their own college days on Parent's Weekend. Our fall formal, Beaux and Arrows, was a game of chance. We helped others to ring in the yuletide season by donating food to the area hungry.

In January our chapter grew even stronger as we pledged a fun-loving and enthusiastic group of girls. After a gruelling pledgship of cookies, presents, and general festivities we celebrated their initiation by dancin' the night away to the groovin' tunes of the Grandeurs. The evening was a complete success, just ask Meg Randol. We all sported the latest fashions in western-wear with Chi Omega at Blue Jean Ball. Only the few and the proud were observant enough to appreciate the little touch of atmosphere that the twenty bales of hay added to the Delt House.

Always on the lookout for ways to help those in need, many Pi Phi's gave their time and attention to local children at Mountain View Elementary. Not only did we give them a new world through literature, they broadened our horizons by sharing their knowledge of Power Rangers and other secrets of the universe.

We kicked off spring term by joining forces with Sigma Chi and the other sororities for the third annual Derby Days. Our Derby King and Queen proudly led the fight to help raise money for our worthy cause. We invited some of the finest male specimens at W&L to our annual spring fling with Kappa Alpha Theta. Our crushes didn't attend this particular function, so if you're out there boys, hope you're regretting it now.

We celebrated our joint heritage with Kappa Kappa Gamma at Monmouth Duo, a sisterhood picnic that provided a nice break from our overwhelming studies this spring.

All in all it was a year of broken records and high achievement. We demonstrated our intellectual prowess by topping the charts for greek GPA; Megan Fernstrum set new standards for the world of professional velcro jumping at the spring carnival; and our athletes made an outstanding showing on the field, track, and court.

We wish our seniors all of the best as they hurl themselves out into the real world. Although Pi Phi will never again be the same without that outstanding group of individuals, it is an immense comfort to know that Julie Ayers will be our president and that Beth and Ainsley will be around at the same time next year to record, once more, the epic saga of the Pi Phi year.

Xi Pi Xi was founded at W&L in the winter of 1994. And in our first full year, we more than doubled our size with our first pledge class. Xi Pi Xi had several social events, our Christmas semi-formal, the spring picnic, exam study breaks, and poetry readings, just to name a few. Xi Pi Xis held positions of leadership on the Ring-tum Phi, the Publications Board, WLUR, Live Drive and other organizations. Xi Pi Xis also participated in track and cross country. As our first full school year comes to end, we wish our lone graduating senior, Sarah, good luck in her future endeavors.

By all accounts this has been a wonderful year for the Alpha Beta Tau chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, W&L's only coed service fraternity. Sponsoring fundraisers for the American Cancer Society, selling concessions at the football games, building houses with Habitat for Humanity, and participating in the National Adopt-a-Highway program are only a sample of the many ways in which we have contributed to both the campus and the surrounding community. Indeed, the APOers participated in over 40 service projects this year, and for the first time since our establishment in 1987, we were able to end brothers from our chapter to the National Convention in Dallas.

It was a fun year too. I don't think any of us will forget Tonya Harding's visit to the Halloween Party (and who were those two green bopsy Twins anyway?) And what about the semiformal? It is not everyday that we get to see Michael Hughes getting down!

Increased membership ensures that this spirit of friendship and service will continue to grow. Over the past three years, our chapter has more than doubled in size, and we added 12 new members this past year alone. So congrats to everyone, it was a great year.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club met weekly throughout the year. The International Club had various parties, Halloween, Alex's going away party, etc. The International House (I-House) is a university owned residency specifically for foreign exchange students and W&L students who are interested in other cultures. Nine students lived in the I-House, including four W&L students, a student from Hong-Kong, three from Japan, and one from Russia. Last summer the I-House was renovated, providing a brand new kitchen, lounge, and dining room. Anyone interested in international affairs, other cultures and languages, or is just curious is welcome to stop by and say "Hi."

COLOPHON

The 1995 Calyx was compiled by the members of the 1995 Calyx staff under the direction of Laura Purcell and Susie Stowell and printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing Division. The theme of "Spirited Traditions" was selected by the editors to represent Washington & Lee's distinct traditions and spirit, as well as the propensity towards liquid spirits that W&L displays. Original cover idea was designed by Jon Van Dyke with original artwork by Jostens. Thank you to Patrick Hinely and the Washington & Lee News Office for many great photographs, Brian Logue and the Sports Information Office for sports copy, Meredith Brown for identifying the seniors, and Taylor Crothers for the senior photography. A very special thank you to all who supported the Calyx, its staff and its editor (especially to each of our families and friends; Carol Caulkins, University Center Coordinator; Michelle Richardson, Student Activities Coordinator; Jeff Cannon, our Jostens Representative; the Publications Board of Washington & Lee; Professor Richardson, the Publications Board Advisor; the Washington & Lee Business Office; Buildings and Grounds; and last but not least the Ringtum Phi.) The 1995 cover is embossed on imitation leather. For the record: the 1994 cover was made out of actual Khaki pants material (the unofficial uniform of Washington and Lee!) Good Luck to Susie and Jessica as they face the challenges as editors and uphold the Calyx's century-old tradition of excellence!

-Laura Purcell and Susie Stowell

ETYMOLOGY

The American Heritage Dictionary (1982) defines Calyx as:
1. The outer protective covering of a flower, consisting of a series of leaflike, usually green segments called sepals. 2. A cuplike or funnel-shaped animal structure. 3. A collecting structure in the kidney.

A century after its christening the title "Calyx" remains ambiguous. The term's definitions have little to do with a book (unless a yearbook is a collecting structure?) Much has changed in the past century, for example, Calyx is now an expensive designer perfume by Prescriptives. We have to assume that Charles Boppel had more insight when he defined the word a hundred years ago. So in honor of the Calyx's centennial (although this is just our 98th volume), the Calyx has reprinted Charles Boppel's original etymology.

*Some say calic's from calico
And I suppose they ought to know
The derivation;
But Little girls wear calico,
Don't you suppose that must be so
In Every nation?*

*Now I've a theory of my own
You might not guess, so I'll make it known, But keep it quiet.
Calyx, a cup, must be the source,
Just hear my words and you'll indorse My novel fiat.*

*Cups are pla(i)ted and girls are, too
And painted girls are nothing new
In decoration.
Too much cup and too much girl
Both throw our heads into a whirl and cause gyration.*

*A cup, you know, goes to the lips.
And sometimes makes frequent trip
In that direction.
A cup has dregs, however sweet,
And we a calic rarely meet
That's all perfection.*

The Washington and Lee Swing

Come cheer for Washington and Lee;
We're going to win another victory.
The White and Blue we will ever wave in triumph,
For the University. RAH! RAH! RAH!
Fight to the finish we are with you;
Break through the line on every play.
Rush the ball on down the field,
And we will win this game today.

When Washington and Lee's men fall in line,
We're going to win again another time.
For W&L I yell, I yell, I yell!
And for the University I yell like hell!
And we will fight! fight! fight! for every yard;
Circle the ends and hit that line right hard!
And we will roll those Wahoos on the sod!
Yes by God! RAH! RAH! RAH!
